What Payment types are there?

You can pay for goods and services using your debit card (including contactless payments), on the move or from the comfort of your armchair electronically (via Online Banking or Mobile Banking), or by cheque. Some Payment types have cut-off times which can be found in your first direct Account Terms and Conditions, online, or by giving us a call. Whichever payment type you choose, we’ll action your request as soon as possible.

Please remember, you must make sure you have enough money in your account (or enough money in your arranged overdraft) before making a payment. And if a payment has been sent in error, you must contact us as soon as possible.

You can also use:

- Apple Pay, Samsung Pay and Google Pay - a fast, easy and secure way to pay for goods and services by linking your first direct card to your mobile device. If you have not previously registered your card for an e-wallet pay service, then you would need to register before you can use it. For further guidance and step by step instructions on how to set this up visit www.firstdirect.com/banking/ways-to-bank
- Bill Payments using the Faster Payments Service – a payment made in sterling to the account of a person or business in the UK, Channel Islands and Isle of Man
- Standing Orders – money sent in sterling to a person or business in the UK
- Direct Debits – money transferred from your account at your request in sterling to a person or business in the UK on a date or dates you’ve agreed with the person or business. The amount may vary
- CHAPS – money sent in sterling through the Clearing House Automated Payment System, usually for high values
- Internal Transfers – money sent in sterling between first direct accounts (including HSBC UK and M&S Bank) held with us in your name, including joint accounts
- Cheques – cheques you write will settle via the Image Clearing System (ICS). This will be by way of a digital image. When your cheque is cleared through ICS you’ll see your funds being taken from your account the next working day, so it’s important that the money is in your account when you write the cheque and give it to the person you’re paying. Timescales will vary depending on the bank you’re paying the cheque into as not all banks are subscribed to the ICS yet
- Paym – to securely send money from eligible current accounts using their mobile telephone number (if they’re also registered for Paym) instead of their account details.

It’s important to keep your finances safe. Here are some of the steps you can take to help keep your money and information secure:

Keep your details up-to-date

Let us know if you change your name or contact details as soon as possible. Remember to make sure that confidential information detailed in any of our communications with you is not seen by anyone else.

Regularly check your statements

You should check your statements as soon as you get them, and call us immediately if anything looks suspicious.

Tips for writing cheques

We recommend that you:

- write clearly and use blue or black ink that can’t be erased
- reduce gaps between words or figures
- add further information, eg a reference name or an account number when making a cheque payable to a large organisation
- draw horizontal lines through blank space on the ‘pay’ line
- do not sign a cheque before you use it
- if you post a cheque to someone, clearly write the name of the person you are paying the cheque to and put extra information about them on the front of the cheque eg, Inland Revenue, Account J Jones.

Telephone banking

When you open your 1st Account with us we’ll ask you if you’d like to register for Phone Banking. We’ll ask you to provide us with a password and some information personal to you. When you call we’ll ask you for two letters from this password and the answer to an additional security question.

Textphone users

Please remember to clear your textphone’s memory after every conversation with us. Remember to tear out and destroy any printed record of your personal details from any printer attached to your textphone.

Keep your textphone in good working order as a general security measure.
